

Japan-U.S. Military Program

Masahiro Ogino, Acting Consul General at the Consulate General of Japan in Miami, was one of the featured speakers for the JUMP (Japan-U.S. Military Program) Pensacola Event held Friday afternoon in the atrium of the National Museum of Naval Aviation and put on by the Japan-America Society of Northwest Florida.

Lt. General Duane D. Thiessen, USMC (Ret.) and President and Chief Executive Officer of the Naval Aviation Museum Foundation, talks about his experiences serving in Japan and about the friendships that have grown out of that service as one of the featured speakers in the JUMP, Japan-U.S. Military Program Pensacola Event put on by the Japan-America Society of Northwest Florida on Friday afternoon at the National Museum of Naval Aviation.

With the help of Masahiro Ogino, Acting Consul General at the Consulate General of Japan in Miami(left), Lt. General Duane D. Thiessen, USMC (Ret.), talks about the differences and similarities in Japanese and American customs. In this frame, they discussed what Japanese and Americans like to drink and how they make a "toast." The demonstration was part of the Japan-U.S. Military Program put on Friday afternoon at the National Museum of Naval Aviation.